54321.5.0		Shipment finder will not properly return a query looking for a shipment with a Service Provider and Shipment Cost = to a specific amount.	Due to differences in numeric precision values and the actual stored values the ROUND function is used. The default behavior for UOM values is to round to the precision value of the parameter being used for the query. A property is available (glog.query.uom.padding) to append zeros to the query parameter to expand the precision value. The default is zero.

The resolution for this issue: 1) Decouple release schedule instance with order executed status. 56963.5.0	ISS00019909	Shipment Status ENROUTE_ENROUTE is not set even after the time past the Start Time specified on the Shipment	Updated these topics (execution/giv/simple_tracker_results.htm , planning/shipment_manager/shipment_status_def.htm) to say:  The shipment is moving from one location to another. GC3 places a shipment in this status as a result of a shipment event that designates the status to be ENROUTE_ENROUTE. Also the event contains a time that is after the pickup time at the source location.

56966.5.0	ISS00019977	Buyer template not applying through integration	Clear the cache when the buyer template and order release template are changed. Due to impact on performance during cache refresh, the following rules always applied: (1) When buyer template changes, the cache is refreshed. (2) When the template order(the order release itself) is updated, the cache is refreshed. (3) When the template order(the order release itself) is deleted, the cache is not refreshed. I assumed that you would change buyer template first in step 1. (4) When the template order(the order release itself) is inserted, the cache is not refreshed. I assumed that you would add a buyer template first in step 1. However, if you delete the order release template as in step 3 and add the same ID order release template in step 4, and do not make any change in buyer template, the cache probably will not be refreshed.
57000.5.0		Create OM Manually action fails with "can't insert null" error	Changed to recalculate total fields before saving the OM.

57061.5.0	ISS00020024	Shipment Manager showing incorrect shipment when moving from Secondary charge shipment window to the parent window	When clicking on a Shipment Group Shipment in the Shipment UI it will no longer overwrite the original Shipment.
